Will a 150-megawatt solar farm be built in Kosovo?

PRISTINA, May 19 (Reuters) - A group of international and local investors have started to build a 150-megawatt (MW) solar farm in western part of Kosovo as the Balkan country is trying to phase out its dependence from coal. The Solar Energy Group Europe (SEGE) consortium plans to start production within 12 months.

When will Kosovar's first large scale solar plant be built?

The plant is scheduled to begin commercial operations in 2022. No further details were revealed on the project. When built, the plant will be Kosovo's first large scale solar park. The Kosovar government has made several attempts to support small sized and utility scale solar in the past.

Is Kosovo's feed-in tariff scheme complying with European state aid regulations?

In December, for example, Kosovo's State Aid Commission (KNSH) deliberated that the feed-in tariff scheme for PV installations not exceeding 3 MW in size, introduced by the country's Office of the Energy Regulator (ZRRE) in late November, was not complying with European state aid regulations.
