What I mean by sure, napalit na ang battery. Pero something might happen like: You can't see the battery health / there's an unremovable notification saying "unknown part". This is what I meant by Apple being so strict with their repair policies. They want you to have it repaired sa authorized centers = expensive = may cut si Apple.

We tested and researched the best home battery and backup systems from EcoFlow, Tesla, Anker, and others to help you find the right fit to keep you safe and comfortable during the hurricane season.

Call around sa ibat ibang Apple Authorized Service Center first before going, kung may stock sila ng battery mo. Usually you can request not to remove yung data, and if may stock if could take around 1-3 hours. Basta may stock sila ng battery dapat mabilis lang yan, and if Apple Authorized Service Center yan for sure ok yan.

Hi need your help. I have an iPhone XS, hand me down lang sya ng sister ko na nagwork abroad. Recently nung nicheck ko yung health ng battery sa settings ko, "service" ang nakalagay and sabi ng sister ko meaning daw need na palitan battery ko. Ganun ba talaga yun? I clicked the service part then 77% yung lumabas na battery health daw.
