Glad that helped! My experience with the Powerwall over the last 4 months or so has been that it's pretty reliable at maintaining a connection but it's clearly dependent on your infrastructure (and that's where I've been having trouble that a new router appears to have solved).. One bit of learning this whole episode did reveal is that it is possible to reset the Tesla Gateway without ...

Capacity and modularity Both Powerwall models are pretty similar in this category. They both store up to 13.5 kWh (usable), which is a common size among home batteries.

The only reason to buy a Powerwall would be for extended outages and if that is the case, a whole house generator makes a lot more sense. I have a small tri-fuel generator from Costco that is over 4 years old, "just in case" and I have only used it once for a couple of hours. If you live in an area with constant, extended outages, that would ...

I lived in San Leandro and worked in Fremont at a Solar Panel company where I purchased the Powerwall II because I was retiring to Costa Rica. The pandemic and death of my sister forced me to put the battery and panels away for a while and recently when I got back into it I realized the battery is dead because it cannot be stored for long.
