What is a Tier 1 solar manufacturer?

Solar manufacturers earn Tier 1 status based on factors such as financial stability, large-scale manufacturing capacity, and a proven track record in the industry. This tiering system--where Tier 1 represents the most bankable manufacturers--is commonly used to assess a company's reliability rather than product quality.

Does bloombergnef's Tier 1 list assess the quality of solar panels?

BloombergNEF's Tier 1 list does not directly assess the quality of solar panels but rather the financial strength of the manufacturer. To be included in the list, a manufacturer must have supplied panels to at least six projects financed on a non-recourse basis by six different banks in the past two years.

How do I compare Tier 1 solar panels?

To compare options, check pricing, and create a bill of materials including Tier 1 solar panels, as well as CEC listed inverters, and racking, see our Solar Design & Quote Tool. Note: This Tier 1 ranking is based solely on the financial stability of the manufacturers and should not be interpreted as a measure of solar panel performance or quality.

Do I need Tier 1 solar panels?

Tier 1 is a classification used to identify solar panel manufacturers with strong financial health, large-scale production capabilities, and a solid track record in the industry. These companies are known for their stability and ability to consistently deliver reliable solar products.

Why should you invest in a Tier 1 solar company?

These companies are known for their stability and ability to consistently deliver reliable solar products. Earning Tier 1 status signals credibility, which is especially important for investors, developers, and customers looking for trusted long-term performance.
